Our enterprise clients are threatening to churn because our dashboard lacks customizable reporting and automated PDF scheduling. They currently have to manually export data to Excel every Monday. How should we evaluate this request, what are market leaders doing, and what should our MVP PRD and Jira user stories look like?

Enterprise Dashboard Enhancement: Customizable Reporting & Automated PDF Scheduling

This document details the technical requirements, strategic evaluation, and initial development plan for addressing critical enterprise client needs regarding customizable reporting and automated PDF scheduling.

1. Evaluation of Request, Priority, and Strategic Direction

1.1 Strategic Imperative & Business Impact: The request for customizable reporting and automated PDF scheduling is not merely a feature enhancement but a critical strategic imperative directly addressing the threat of client churn from high-value enterprise accounts. These capabilities are foundational for enterprise client satisfaction, operational efficiency, and competitive parity. Failing to address them risks significant revenue loss and damage to our market reputation.
